COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The selectmen voted to prohibit parking around the north end of the Common. The no-parking signs have been put up. The restricted area is next to the Common starting at Mill Hill and running along the westerly side and north end of the Common to Broad Street. This restricted section is on Route Five and there is a lot of traffic in the area. It is also across the street from the fire station and should be kept as free of congestion as possible to let the fire trucks get out on a call in the fastest time.

The start of the work on Mason Street has been held up by the power company. The poles will have to be set before the excavation can begin. The poles are supposed to be reset by the end of this week. The work will begin just as soon as the utility poles are out of the way. More stakes have to be set out on Mason Street that are needed for reference points. It would be very helpful if none of the stakes are disturbed. When a stake is moved, the expense of resetting and rellevelling it again occurs. We know that a few will be moved inadvertently but we request that none be disturbed intentionally.

Several people have mentioned the fact that a tree-planting program of some kind might lessen the impact of losing so many elm trees. The idea certainly has merit. I am sure the town would assist some local organization that might want to start the program for a project. If no organization takes over, then the town might raise some money next year to start a program.

MOLLYCKETT DAY

Mollyckett Day has come and gone once more and with it all our frustrations, doubts, panic and finally our delight and satisfaction of a most successful day. The day dawned crisp, bright and clear in a pattern that prevailed throughout the day. The disease of enthusiasm caused by our early rousing youngsters soon spread like an epidemic to the on coming adults. The field races started with screams, shouts, and groans, as teammates came in first, second and last. Many of the booths opened promptly at 10:00 and a few soon after. Trails were blazed to the smell of coffee, hot dogs, popcorn, sandwiches, candy, and home-made cakes and pies. As one was trying to decide what to see first, his eye would catch the flutter of a pretty apron or a Girl Scout chasing a toddler across the green. Every once in a while giggles of children could be heard as they whizzed by in a miniature car. Boy Scouts could be seen offering their help to any booth that required it. There were books to be read, crafts to be seen and games to be played.

By a short hike across the street one could see the latest trend of art in the Bethel area and many fine ones there were too. Then by crossing the next street one could view fine handicrafts such as hooked rugs, re-finished antiques, and stenciled trays done by our neighbors and friends.

The highlight of the day began with the sound of drums, cymbals and the blare of horns as the Mollyckett Review of Nations Parade commenced. Reigning over this event was our own talented Miss Carol Finn as Miss Mollyckett and a prettier one will never be found.

Preceding Miss Mollyckett came the high stepping horses with their colorful riders. Then came the children in a spray of bright colors of different nations. After the children appeared—continued on page five

FOUR-SEASON BROCHURE NOW AVAILABLE

The first shipment of the four season brochure prepared by the publicity committee of the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce was received last Friday.

Drs. John Trinward and James Hudson were co-chairmen of the committee which has been working since late winter to plan this folder, which not only points up some of the commercial types of ventures operating in the area, but gives a general map of the region, data on Gould Academy, and historical background.

Prepared on coated, textured paper stock, the brochure is colored in attractive pastel shades of blue, green, golden yellow and autumn orange which carry out the four-season feeling.

Original art work by Merrill Gogan, Richard Hughes and Roger Gould provides interesting scenes of the region at the four seasons, and features the sign of the Old Prospector created by Gogan. Interesting seasonal motifs decorate the folded sections.

When unfolded completely, the map of the area from Grafton and Andover south to—continued on Page Five Back on the Common miniature cars rides were starting for the children and the Papoose reservation was enjoying a busy time. People were gathering for the auction to bid on all sorts of treasures. Well, some treasures anyway.

The game party went on throughout the afternoon and stopped only for the delicious baked bean supper everyone enjoyed. We're sorry if some were left out of eating, but we had many more than were expected. The game party was resumed and played until 9:00. Those who still had any energy left, then went down to the Bingham Gym where square dancing was being held and enjoyed.

Winners at the Pot Show were: Best Dog - "Jackie" Great Pyrenees Judy DeLoach; 2nd, "Zero" Bassett Hound; Kim Luce Best Cat; 1st, Alexander, Peter Schorn; 2nd, Adren, Elizabeth Schorn; Best Hamster, "Bannum" Joe; Mary Cummings; Second, Lacy and Furry Harewood; Rex and Grey Cummings.

We wish we could thank each and everyone personally for the help and cooperation we received in making this day such a highly successful one. Not only those who worked for it, but all the public who supported it. Without them our work would have been to no avail.

On behalf of the Bethel Health and Service Council, we say the only possible but inadequate word. Thanks Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hastings, chairmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter M. Stewart, Bethel, Jude and Nancy are spending some time at the "Small" cottage on Lake Umbagog in Bryant Pond.

SAFE WALKING TIPS

WALK ON THE LEFT SIDE

If pedestrians had eyes in the back of their heads, it would not be so important to walk on the left side of the road. Since they don't, it is most necessary to observe this cardinal rule of pedestrian safety.

The Maine Highway Safety Committee reports that 19 per cent of all pedestrian deaths in rural areas involve persons walking in the roadway. Chances are that many of these deaths would not have occurred, if the victims had walked on the left side of the road—FACING traffic. Always follow this rule yourself when walking in suburban areas, on country roads or highways. You'll live longer.

MRS. HAINES RETIRES AT LOCKE MILLS SCHOOL

The town of Greenwood school committee announces the retirement of Mrs. Floribel Haines, Bethel, after 32 years of teaching experience.

MOLLYCOKETT DAY ART SHOW

Bethel's fifth exhibit of works by local painters attracted a large enthusiastic audience. The consensus was that the pictures are better each year. Not every one attending wished to vote for his favorite picture but 384 ballots were cast. As usual, all of the pictures received some votes but the highest total was for Arthur Gilbert's "Winter Night." Other popular pictures were: Mary Shaw's portrait of J. F. K.; Lucia Tikander's "Sunday River Bridge"; Geneva Vail's picture of moose; Sally Ramage's "Fall Scene"; and Douglas Bane's "The Praying Hands."

Lucia Tikander's "Sunday River Bridge" was purchased by John Sharbrough of Larchmont, N. Y. He has been vacationing in Maine for several years and was particularly impressed with the organization of the Bethel Health Council and the fact that all of the local groups sent representatives and participated in planning and activities. He purchased Walter Clark's picture, "Splitting Wood," and donated it to the Health Council to use in any manner that it saw fit as a means of fund raising.

The loan exhibits and Mrs. Tibbets floral arrangements were much admired. We welcomed our new beginning painters and think they showed much promise; we missed our eleven painters who did not exhibit this year but hope that they will have entries next time. Following is a complete list of this year's exhibitors: Seattle Bow-shay, Edith Howe, Mary Shaw, Lucia Tikander, Shirley Keenan, Sue Wright, Betty Anderson, Geneva Johnston, Marah Webster, Ruth Brewster, Geneva Vail, Mrs. Alva Morrison, Sam Timberlake, Walter Clark, Libby Garneau, Arthur Gilbert, Pat Sweetser, Elizabeth Devet-Muraz, Sally Ramage, Barbara Brown, Douglas Bane, Richard Jacobs, Dianne Cross, Sheila Gilbert, Danna Brown, Mark Walker, Clifton Bickford.
